Finish Testimony in Cook and Madden Case at New York

New York, March 17.—Testimony in the trial of Richard Madden and Gustave Cook, accused of aiding Richard P. Stegler, German naval reservist, to procure a false American passport, was completed today. The case will go to the jury tomorrow.

Madden and Cook both took the stand today in their own defense and entered general denials to all the material allegations.

Madden, who was accused by Stegler of furnishing him his birth certificate to enable him to procure the passport in Madden's name, denied ever seeing Stegler. He swore that the certificate in question had been stolen from him by three Germans. He had procured the certificate for his own use, he said.

Summing up for the defense, counsel characterized Stegler as a traitor to his country, who had an ambition to be a spy, but who had lost courage and had tried to profit by selling his story to the newspapers. He warned that it was "too bad that Stegler was not allowed to become a spy and get caught by the right people."

Kenedy Wants Normal.

Kenedy, March 17.—This place is an applicant for the new state normal, which is to be located in south Texas. Kenedy people have aided every way the passage of the bill establishing the three state normals. C. G. Hallmark, superintendent of the local schools, who was one of the original advocates of a normal for south Texas, kept Kenedy's local interest in the matter of the location of the normal in the background until now, when the bill is virtually a law.

E. P. Ruhmann, president of the Kenedy Commercial club, at recent enthusiastic meeting of said club, appointed J. M. Nichols, president of the First State Bank and Trust company; W. T. Courson, president of the Kenedy Loan and Investment company; W. H. Radford, farmer, and Judge J. W. Thames and C. G. Hallmark, superintendent of the public schools, as a special state normal committee to push the campaign for Kenedy's claims.

The citizens generally are united for Kenedy, and a large area of this section "has pledged its support to Kenedy."

Indiana Ex-Senator Killed.

Wichita Falls, March 17.—When the body of T. W. French, an aged man who was killed in a fall from a wagon on a ranch in Archer county Saturday, was sent to Mount Vernon, Ind., this morning it became known that French had been a state senator in Indiana, warden of the Michigan state penitentiary at Lansing, later warden of the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kans., and that he was a thirty-second degree Mason, and had been a classmate of William Jennings Bryan. About a month ago he appeared at a ranch asking for work. He offered to work for his board, but was given employment at a regular salary by the ranchman, who saw his distress. Saturday he fell from a wagon and was found unconscious by the ranchman, Zed Stein, and died shortly afterward. Stein notified relatives and the story of the man's life became known. None of his relatives had heard anything from him for two years. A brother, who is a prominent Oklahoma educator, arrived from Muskogee last night and accompanied the body to Indiana.

TRUSTEES MEASURE IS KILLED IN HOUSE

PROPOSED MEASURE PROVIDING FOR ELECTION BY COUNTY BOARDS IS DEAD.

McCOLLUM GETS BILL THROUGH

Efforts in Interest of Druggists' Liquor License Relief Causes Pro to Shy, but It Passes.

Austin, March 17.—After one of the longest fights of the session the house tonight killed Tee's senate bill providing for election of county school superintendents by the county board of trustees. The debate was animated and exciting and a call of the house resulted in a vote of 52 yeas and 42 nays, ending any further discussion of the bill for this session. The measure met its death when, after a second call was ordered, a motion to reconsider and table the vote by which the bill was killed was carried, 58 to 42, ending any further discussion of the bill for this session.

The bill relieving wholesale druggists from full payment of liquor license where they sell only alcohol to retail druggists was passed finally through the efforts of Senator McCollum, although some of the prohibition senators looked askance at the bill and wanted to know if it opened any loopholes through which bootlegging might be practiced. When Senator McCollum explained the provisions of the bill it went through without opposition.

Hobby Announces Committee.

Lieutenant Governor Hobby announced the following committee: Darwin, King, Gibson, Page, Hudspeth, to decide on the number of clerks and senate employees to be kept after adjournment to make up the record. The house passed finally Greiford's bill appropriating $25,000 for the purpose of maintaining a Texas state exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Clark's bill appropriating $25,000 to prevent the introduction of the bubonic plague at Texas ports; Austin's, appropriating $24,000 for A. & M. college, to straighten out certain bond issues; John's, appropriating $5129 for temporary buildings at the Canyon City normal school, and Bailey's, for DeWitt, appropriating $3000 to eradicate foul brood bees.

The report of the free conference committee on the McNealus material men's lien bill, which accepted the house amendments, was adopted. Cunningham's house bill requiring signatures to all political advertisements, circulars, pamphlets and publication by newspapers or printers of the name of the person by whose authority such advertisement or literature was ordered and where the same was published or printed, was passed finally by the senate.

The Neptolism law applying its provisions to the legislature and its members, excluding as pages, secretaries and stenographers the sons or daughters of members and other relatives, was passed.

Thirty-eight bills finally passed the senate, most of which amendments to other bills. Most of the bills are local road and school bills and had no trouble getting through.

MANY THOUSANDS SOUTHERN PEOPLE

Make Their First Test of Vitalitas During Winter With Amazing Results.

During the winter just drawing to a close many thousands of people have made their first test of Vitalitas. It has made such a marvelous record in the way of relieving suffering and restoring health that the producers are taxed to meet the demand for it.

No other product of Nature has proven so beneficial in the treatment of a great variety of ills, many of which ordinary medicine do not cure. Sufferers who have believed themselves beyond earthly aid are daily being made strong and happy by Vitalitas.

Vitalitas is quickly helpful where a tonic is needed, and particularly for such ailments as stomach disorders, rheumatism, biliousness, liver ailments and diseases of kidneys, bowels and blood. To those who are physically run down, nervous, debilitated and impotent Vitalitas is recommended. As a spring tonic it should be in every home. It is not unpleasant to take, a teaspoonful in a half glass of water is a dose.

You can get a booklet free telling much of interest about this wonderful natural product at Powers-Kelly Drug Co. For sale by druggists.

A resolution will be called up tomorrow by Austin, who says he is sure of a two-thirds vote, to submit it to the people.

The house refused to concur in senate amendments to the joint resolution levying a road tax for building and maintenance of public roads and on the part of the senate, Wiley, Townsend, Page, Darwin and Smith were named on free conference.

The senate refused to send back to the house the dental bill.

The house amendment to the $25,000 appropriation for a state exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition, providing that no part of the money be spent in the payment of salaries, was concurred in.

The free conference committee report on the bill providing for the extermination of sheep scab, accepting the amendments including extermination of hog cholera, was adopted.

Bailey of Harris, had passed finally the appropriation of $23,000 for the Prairie View normal.

The text book printing bill seems dead. It is one of the chief planks in the Ferguson platform, but the opposition in the senate is said to be seven-tenths.

Congressional redistricting will be reported in the closing hours of the session.

FARMER'S WIFE TELLS OF STRUGGLE TO LIVE

WOMAN BEFORE LAND COMMISSION AT DALLAS RECOUNTS FACTS OF HARD LOT.

WORKS IN FIELD EVERY DAY

One of Six, She Does the Washing. Unable to Get Enough Ahead to Buy a Home.

Dallas, Tex., March 17.—A woman's story of the lot of women on tenant farms of the southwest was told at today's land hearing here of the federal commission on industrial relations. The witness was Mrs. L. T. Steward, the mother of eleven children, eight of them living. Mrs. J. Borden Harriman of the commission questioned her. The hardships she described were estimated, according to testimony of other witnesses who gave economic aspects of the question, to be shared in considerable degree by women and children of from 50 to 100,000 families on southwestern farms, most of them white.

Mrs. Steward said she was a native of Arkansas, married there at 15, and for about ten years thereafter resided in Arkansas, then moving to north Texas. In Arkansas, she said, she worked in the fields every year except one in crop seasons, continuing this work until nearly the time when children were born. Her routine, she said, was to get breakfast at 4 a. m., work in the fields until nearly noon, then return to the house to begin household duties and take "one day out a week" to do the washing. For several years, she said, she made all her husband's clothing, her own and her children's. Mrs. Harriman asked about farm tenant housing conditions.

"Some houses are tolerably decent," replied the witness. "Some are not. I have carried water myself half a mile from the nearest well to the house."

After coming to Texas Mrs. Steward stopped field work, replacing it with sewing, until, she said, her sewing machine was taken away a few weeks ago to pay debts. She said she had known many women who worked as hard. Since the first of this year, Mrs. Harriman brought out, the family has not had enough to eat, and their hogs, their only remaining food supply, are now on sale under foreclosure to pay for debts. When the hogs were seized, Mrs. Steward said, she was allowed to retain "three messes" for the family to eat.

In Spite of All Doesn't Worry.

"Don't you worry?" asked Mrs. Harriman.

"I always say," replied the witness, smiling, "that I never let any more trouble fly over my head than I can kick off with my heels."

"Good philosophy," commented Mrs. Harriman.

The witness' husband had testified how after seventeen years of constant moving and debts the family began to accumulate a little property in farm implements and animals three years ago, but that these savings disappeared in paying bills for food and living expenses under the credit system in general vogue at rural stores. He said he never kept any track of the amount of such expenses, except to live on as little as possible, buying but one two-piece ready-made suit in the last five years. When his profits were high, he said, these bills always about equalled the profits. He said he had paid on credit from $1 to $125 a bushel for corn, which was selling for cash at 75c a bushel.

HIGHER COURTS.

Austin, Tex., March 17.—The supreme court today answered certified questions in the will contest case of Thomas W. Masterson et al. vs. John W. Harris et al. from Taylor county. The court held that the will in question inured alike to the benefit of the appellees, and the second question was answered in the negative, to the effect that a contract binding one of the parties, to leave at his death property to another is enforceable.

The supreme court reversed and remanded the judgment of the court of civil appeals and of the district court in the case of Mary Beversdorff vs. Joe Dienger, from Kendall county. This is a contest over the probate of the will of John Uile. The decision of the county court was adverse to the contestant and the will was admitted to probate. The contestant, a daughter of Uile, appealed to the district court and his appeal was dismissed because she failed to give notice of appeal in the county court, the appellate court approved this judgment, which was today reversed.

The court also overruled a motion for rehearing in the case of the Adams Fish market vs. W. G. Sterett, game fish and oyster commissioner, regarding tax on fish and oysters shipped in Texas. The court of criminal appeals today affirmed the case of Alex Williams, from Marion county, Williams having been assessed the death penalty for the murder of Henry Terhune. The court also affirmed the case of Leander Johnson, from Lamar county, appellant having been given ten years on conviction of murder, and affirmation was also had in the case of Will Anthony, from Burleson county, appellant having been convicted of murder and given five years in the penitentiary. The court today reversed and remanded the case of A. L. Howard, from Dallas county. Appellant was convicted of the theft of an automobile valued at $300. The case was reversed because the legislature recently passed an act making it a misdemeanor to steal a motor car.

The court granted the writ of habeas corpus for bail in the case of D. H. Craig, a detective of Houston, who is under indictment charged with the killing of a negro, and fixed the bail of Craig at $10,000, thus reversing the judgment of the judge of the criminal district court of Harris county.

Court of Criminal Appeals.

The following proceedings were had in the court of criminal appeals: Affirmed: Will McAnthony, from Burleson county; Leroy Davis, from Dallas county; Edna Smith, from Dallas county; Goodman Brown, from Dallas county; Willie Hart, from Fayette county; Leander Johnson, from Lamar county; Alex Williams, from Marion county; Ernest Dodson, from Nolan county; B. F. Ruby, from Tarrant county. Reversed and remanded: Ernest

MORALITY AND EFFICIENCY.

Fundamental to its campaign of "Safety First," the Carnegie Steel company, one of the largest corporations in the country, has issued an appeal to its thousands of employees to lead a moral life as a means of increasing their own safety while at work and of improving their chances of promotion.

We are accustomed to hearing things of this kind from the pulpit, but working men and others who do not attend church are prone frequently to disregard what they hear from the churches as being impractical, or from some other motive that has arisen from their distorted view that the church knows little and cares less about the ordinary workman, they disregard its messages.

But corporations are presumed to look upon this matter from a strictly business viewpoint. They want efficiency, but if corporations can convince the workmen in their employ that the highest efficiency can be obtained only through the living of moral lives, then they will have gone a long way toward attaining that efficiency, for few men who are not already morally depraved will go blindly into a career that will wreck their own fortunes and the happiness and general welfare of their families as well.

In a series of pamphlets which have been distributed among the men, the Carnegie Steel company, by means of charts, shows how much longer a man lives who lives "right" than one dissipates, tells of the better school work done by children of the workman who leads a clean life compared with one who does not, and how much less liable the workman is to accident because of his being more careful.

The big steel corporation is distributing these pamphlets and preaching this gospel of morality in the hope of advancing its own welfare, of course, but it is doing a good work for the men as well. We have made and had considerable step forward when large employers can induce their employees to live not only lawfully and protect themselves and their families, but even though the motive behind this missionary work may appear to be a selfish one.

It will be much more economical to applicant for men to live right from the beginning which is to have them begin lives of dissipation on and then drop them from their lists the three states of fresh men who have not yet corrupted themselves.

Governor Ferguson and the mayor of Waco, Texas town in which there is an ad club joins the delegation from this state to the convention of the International Association of Ad Clubs at Chicago this summer. Our bet is on Texas winning first place for W. T. exhibit.

Belgium will be rebuilt from Southern Europe, according to the news dispatches, the building supplies from Germany being no longer available. The Southern lumber industry has been languishing since the outbreak of the war and here is the opportunity to get rid of the surplus stock.

What has become of the dear mother who was so proud of the neat patch she could put on a seat of her boy's pants? Inquires the day's newspaper. She is dead. Her son, French boy, has allowed the boys to adopt the benedictine that isn't becoming to wear a patch.

At all Wacoans are in favor of "votes for women," but this city will give a good example to Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the suffragist and social reformer, who will be in this city March 30.

THE DALLAS LAND HEARING.

If one can take the judgment of many newspapers over the country as an indication of the opinion of the people in the sections represented by the papers there is a popular distrust of the efficacy of many of the special commissions that have been named recently by congress and various state legislatures to investigate almost everything under the sun. These same papers have directed many sarcastic remarks at Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission on industrial relations, that is now conducting a hearing on the land question in Dallas.

And there was some basis for the criticism directed at the chairman, his principal desire at the New York hearing when practically all of the men of large wealth in and around New York were haled before the body, being, it appeared, to try and embarrass men who had accumulated large fortunes. His later interview at Kansas City in which he personally berated some of these men made it appear that he was using the commission for political purposes rather than in securing the information provided for in the creation of the commission.

But there is a chance for some effective work by the commission in the hearing at Dallas provided information of real value relating to the problem of farm tenantry can be adduced. We believe a few typical tenants should be included in the list of witnesses summoned before the body, for after all, they are the ones most affected and they probably know better than anyone else just what's the matter with them. And unless the remedy that is proposed for their relief fits in with their scheme of things they are not going to accept it, for they will be as suspicious of the average "outside" assistance as they are of the motives of the "absentee" landlord.

The hearing is going to reveal one all-important fact, and that is, that under present conditions in this state the average tenant has about as little chance of buying a farm as the rich man has of entering the kingdom of heaven. Granted that he could save enough money to make the first payment on a farm under the present high-valuation of black land, the interest on the deferred payments would absorb the net profits on a year's crop, and where will the cash for the remainder of the payments come from? If the figures were available it could be conclusively demonstrated that very few tenants have purchased farms in this state within the past ten or fifteen years. Farm lands have been inflated beyond their productive capacity and the principal purchases have been made by men who already owned land or by those residing in the towns and cities and investing their ready cash in the farm lands in the belief that the rapid increase in farm values would continue.

Whether the substitution of cash rentals for a share of the crops has cut much figure in the inability of the tenants to buy a home, we do not know. We do not believe it is as important an item as Governor Ferguson thinks it is. Nor do we believe what has come to be termed the "bonus" system, where a cash consideration in addition to a share of the crop is demanded, has proven as serious a menace to the welfare of the tenant as Mr. Ferguson suggests, from the fact that the "bonus" system does not appear to have operated as largely as the governor believes. But the tendency of the merchants in small towns to take a mortgage on everything the tenant farmer has and then charge him outrageous prices for his year's supplies has been a factor in keeping the tenant's nose to the grindstone and it has reduced some of the poor men almost to penury. To the burdens which tenant farmers in some sections of this state are having to bear the merchants are charging them 100 per cent profit on all goods furnished, which is an outrage upon civilization. Yet what is the helpless tenant to do?

Surely a system of adequate farm credits is demanded to aid the solution of the situation. Some means should be provided not only to enable the farmer to get cheap money with which to buy a home, but some way to enable him to borrow some money on which to run himself through the year pending such time as he learns that all-important lesson of living at home.

In this connection the European war will prove a great blessing. It will emphasize not only the need for raising one's feed and food at home, but also the necessity for economy along general lines. Realizing that they were unable to buy a home some tenants have been prone to become profligate with the small profits they realized from their crops and have not saved up anything for a rainy day or a depressing period.

But it will take more than a system of credits to remedy the general farm situation, and we hope the investigation by the federal commission will reveal what that is. The present tenancy situation in this state strikes at the very foundation of our civilization. It has been growing from bad to worse, but it cannot continue in that direction indefinitely. The time has arrived when we must do something effectual to remedy it, for if we do not, some day the tenants will be strong enough to resort to violence to command relief. It is more economical, as it is more just, to provide that relief now, or just as soon as the proper measures for affording that relief can be found.

Evidencing the German thrift and patriotism, the well-to-do people of Germany are leaving home and boarding in neighboring countries in order to conserve the home food supply for the army and such civilians as cannot get away.

Washington, D. C., is now being run by newspaper men, so far as its local affairs are concerned. It is quite the correct thing that the nation's capital should set the pace in good government.

CHILD'S PLAY AT AUSTIN.

Several years ago our contemporary and neighbor, the Times-Herald, advocated calling out the "Old Guard" and sending its members to Austin as members of the legislature. That plan did not succeed from some cause; possibly because it was not pushed vigorously enough; possibly because the small pay for members of the legislature did not appeal to the "Old Guard," most of whom are either drawing good salaries or large returns upon their investments.

But the state has suffered from not having more men of large caliber in the legislature, and it is suffering from that cause still, as one can readily recognize from a glance at the character of measures that are being engrossed and finally passed by the two houses at Austin.

For instance, a bill has been engrossed by the senate which would require fire insurance companies to pay their agents a flat commission of 15 per cent and a contingent commission of 10 per cent. This measure, if finally passed and approved by the governor, would so flagrantly violate the right of private contract that we are led to wonder what has become of the lawyers in the upper house. If it lies within the province of the state to regulate the income of fire insurance agents, why not every other character of employee?

Even less excuse, perhaps, remains for another bill passed by the senate which would give the hotels of the state protection from "dead beats," but only those hotels can claim the protection of that law which forbid their employees from accepting tips. A country justice of the peace who had never heard of the constitution would not permit such a statute to stand if he could help it. Other measures just as absurd have been favorably acted upon by the legislature this session—the senate being more guilty of offenses of this character than the lower house, we believe—but there is no excuse for any of them and we trust the governor's veto will be employed on all such.

Creation of new offices and other calls for additional but needless expenditures have been provided for in bills that have passed to engrossment, if not finally. One of these is Senator Wiley's bill providing for the creation of district auditors, one auditor for every ten counties, who should make at least an annual audit of every county's books in his district. This would provide for about twenty-five additional offices, all of them to carry large salaries, and nothing to be gained for the taxpayers as a result of this large outlay in compensation. The larger counties of the state now have their auditors, under the law, and if they are honest, why the need for outside auditing? And if they are dishonest, then the road to impeachment and removal is open. As for the smaller counties, the commissioners' courts can order a special audit of the county's books at any time it may be deemed necessary.

Another useless expenditure of money is contemplated by the house and senate alike in the bill to establish three new state normal schools. We have three large, well-equipped normal schools already, located in three different sections of the state. We have heard no complaint that they are unable to care for all the pupils that have offered for registration. But if the attendance has grown beyond the capacities of the various schools already in existence, then it would be much more economical to enlarge the capacities of these schools than to establish new ones, one in East, South and West Texas, respectively. There is no reason to believe that the item of railroad transportation from any section of the state to one of the normals now in existence is preventing any teacher from attendance, and the reasons for the establishment of the additional normal schools at this time are far from convincing.

Governor Ferguson and the appropriation committees of the two houses will spend several weeks together in an effort to cull from the current appropriation bill all unnecessary items. We would not have any appropriation that is demanded for the efficiency of any of our state institutions eliminated, but the need for these normal schools is not urgent and the appropriations should not be made.

The legislators ought to recognize this, appears, and be more careful in the expenditure of public funds. As the Corpus Christi Caller suggests: "Compulsory education should begin in the Texas legislature. Every senator and representative should be compelled to read each bill introduced before voting upon it. Then there would be fewer bills." And, we might add, less waste of the public funds.

The directors of the Cotton Palace, as well as the stockholders and the community in general, will support Asher Sanger, the new president, in his efforts to promote the welfare of that institution. The Cotton Palace is destined to grow, but it is going to take lots of hard work, but he is entitled to the loyal assistance of the people of the community and we are confident he will receive it.

People of Gatesville and Coryell county, regardless of their attitude on the governorship last summer, have, unsolicited by Mr. Eddins or anyone else, addressed a statement to Governor Ferguson asking that Mr. Eddins be not removed from the superintendency of the State Juvenile Training School. And the testimony of these people who have watched the various administrations at that institution are competent to judge when a man is making good.

Is there to be more "harmony" at Austin during the special session of the legislature? Austin dispatches announce that Joe Bailey will visit the capital at that time and that he will be invited to address the legislature.

Attorney General Gregory Addresses Letter to Counsel for Sun Publishing Company, Which Concerns Wants Action Against A. P. for Violation of Anti-trust Law—Holds Is No Cause for Bringing Suit.

Washington, March 17.—Attorney General Gregory, in a letter addressed to James M. Beck, counsel for the Sun Printing and Publishing association of New York, holds that there is no ground for action by the federal authorities against the Associated Press under the anti-trust laws. The attorney general's letter, dated March 12 and made public today, follows:

"I have given consideration to the complaint against the Associated Press for alleged violations of the federal anti-trust act presented to my predecessor by you as counsel for the Sun Printing and Publishing association.

"The Associated Press was organized under the membership corporation laws of the state of New York. According to its certificate of incorporation, it is:

"An association of certain persons, who, owning or representing certain newspapers, unite in a mutual and co-operative organization for the collection and interchange with greater economy and efficiency, of information and intelligence for publication in the newspapers owned or represented by them.

"The objects of the association, as stated in the certificates, are: To gather, obtain and procure by its own instrumentalities by exchange with its members, and by any other appropriate means, and by all kinds of information and intelligence, telegraphic and otherwise, for the use and benefit of its members, and to furnish and supply the same to its members for publication in the newspapers owned or represented by them under conditions and limitations as may be prescribed by the by-laws; and the mutual co-operation, benefit and protection of its members.

"The certificate further provides that:

Makes No Profit.
"The corporation is not to make a profit nor to make or declare dividends, and is not to engage in the business of selling intelligence, nor traffic in the same.

"Those eligible for membership are thus described in the by-laws, article 11, section 1:
"The sole, or the part owner of a newspaper, or any executive officer of a corporation, limited liability company, joint stock or other association, which is the owner of a newspaper, shall be eligible as a member of the corporation in the way and subject to the limitations hereinafter specified, provided that not more than one person at a time shall be eligible by reason of connection with any one newspaper. No one person shall be eligible.

"Members may be elected by the affirmative vote of not less than four-fifths of all the members of the corporation. (By-laws, article 3, section 1.)

"Members may also be elected by the board of directors when no meeting of the members of the corporation is in session, but no applicant for membership can be elected by the directors over the opposition of any member entitled to the right of protection. (Article 3, section 2.)

"The right of protest is the right to object to the admission of new members from a given territorial district. (Article 3, section 5.)

"It can only be conferred by the affirmative vote of seven-eighths of all the members. (Article 3, section 6.)

"The right of protest has no application to the election of applicants by a four-fifths vote of the members themselves.

"Each member is entitled to one vote by virtue of his membership (article 8, section 7), and also a vote for each $25 of the bonds of the association registered in his name up to $1,000, provided he waives interest on the bond (article 12, section 3).

"The affairs of the corporation are managed by fifteen directors, who are elected by members of the corporation and must themselves be members. (Article 5, sections 1, 2 and 4.)

"The cost of maintaining the news service of the corporation and all other expenses of the corporation are apportioned among the members by the board of directors in such manner as it may deem equitable. (Article 9, section 1.)

How News Is Gathered.

"Broadly stated, the news distributed by the Associated Press comes to it in two ways: First, from the reports made to it by the various members of happenings in their respective localities; and second, from correspondents, reporters and other of the Associated Press that will be done promptly.

"The following resolution of the board of directors of the Associated Press is also pointed to as an obstacle in the way of the members of the Associated Press obtaining the news of any rival agency:

"Resolved, That the placing of an operator or any other newsgathering or distributing association in the office of an Associated Press paper is a step which establishes a condition which will be likely to permit the news of this corporation to be disclosed to unauthorized persons and so endangers the inviolability of the news service of the Associated Press that it is seriously prejudicial to the interest and welfare of this corporation and its members and the board of directors, by authority of the by-laws hereby forbid any member of the Associated Press from placing an operator or any other newsgathering or distributing association in his office or building (February 20, 1901).

"I am not prepared to say, however, that this regulation as no reasonable relation to a legitimate end, namely, preventing representatives of rival agencies from coming into possession before publication of news collected by the Associated Press.

"Nor am I convinced that the regulation seriously hinders members of the Associated Press desiring to obtain the service of another news agency. On the contrary, my impression is that some of them do obtain news from other agencies, while at the same time complying with this regulation. As further showing that a news agency may serve a newspaper without an operator in the office of the newspaper, I refer to the statement made to me by the president of the Associated Press to the effect that many of its members have neither an operator nor a wire of the association directly in their offices, but receive the news items by messenger and other means of communication. If my information on these points is incorrect, I shall be glad to have it corrected.

Sun May Bring Suit.

"It is probably unnecessary for me to point out that if the Sun Printing and Publishing association is not satisfied with the conclusions I have reached, it may itself bring suit against the Associated Press either for an injunction or for damages, and thereby obtain a judicial determination as to the merits of its complaint. "Regretting that the pressure of other business entitled to priority as to the time of consideration has prevented an earlier disposition of this complaint, I am, sincerely yours,

"T. W. GREGORY.

Is Interstate Commerce.

"As regards the first ground of complaint, assuming, as I do, that the collection and distribution of news among the several states is interstate trade or commerce, and by law or other regulation adopted by the Associated Press which would have the effect of preventing or seriously hindering its members from purchasing or otherwise obtaining news from a rival agency, would be, in my opinion, a restraint upon interstate trade or commerce and an attempt to monopolize.

"The contention that the Associated Press, in the exercise of its discretion upon its membership or at least has the power to do so, has a foundation in section 7 of article 8 of the by-laws, which reads as follows:

"Experience having shown that it is very difficult for members to avoid or prevent violation of the law prescribed by the last preceding section or to detect or prove any such violation, if the members are permitted to purchase or receive news from other associations and that such purchase or receipt be seriously prejudicial to the interest and welfare of this corporation and its members the board of directors shall, in their discretion, forbid the member to purchase intelligence from any other such association.

"When the board of directors, by a vote of two-thirds of all its members, shall decide and notify any member that the purchase or receipt of news from any other persons, firm, corporation or association, not a member of this corporation or represented in this corporation by a member, or any other person by such member establishes a condition that will be likely to permit the news of the corporation to be disclosed to unauthorized persons, such members shall immediately discontinue purchasing or receiving such news or such other intelligence from any other such association.

"The decision of the board of directors as the establishment of such condition shall be final and the fact shall not thereafter be open to question by a member.

Power Has Not Been Exercised.
"The president of the Associated Press states that the power reserved by this by-law has never been exercised. As I understand the complainant disputes that assertion. It is not necessary, however, for me to determine that issue of fact, since my conclusion is that this by-law, whether it has been enforced or not, should be abrogated. I am advised by the president

DUNNE PLEADS WITH HYPHENATED CITIZENS

URGES AT ST. PATRICK'S CELEBRATION TO PLACE LOYALTY ABOVE ALL.

IRISH PROUD OF THIS COUNTRY

Must Be Neutral in Every Way, and Points Out the Need for Moderation.

Cincinnati, March 17.—Asserting that the European belligerents in tramping on the rights of neutrals had made it difficult to keep the United States from being embroiled, Governor Edward F. Dunne of Illinois tonight pleaded with "hyphenated Americans" to aid the administration in the crisis by refraining from the public expression of whatever sympathies they may have with nations at war. Speaking at a St. Patrick's day celebration of the Irish Fellowship club, Governor Dunne said that persons of foreign birth or lineage in America should place loyalty to this nation above all else.

He spoke of the pride of Irishmen in the part they took in the up-building of the United States and asserted that "at present more than ever in the history of this nation should the citizen of Irish birth or lineage be careful to place his loyalty to the United States above his sympathies with any of the European countries."

"Never in recent history was there greater need for moderation, tact and diplomacy of American statesmen and of loyalty by its citizens," asserted Governor Dunne.

"To allow this nation to become engulfed in the European cataclysm would be a stupendous political blunder if not a political crime, which the patriotic president and the secretary of state will not commit. Let not then American officials at this time by public expression of any sympathies or by participating in organized efforts to give contraband assistance to any of the belligerents."

"Hands off for Europe, hands up for America, should be our watchword."

Johnny Kilbane Has Better of Bout With Bantam Williams

Philadelphia, March 17.—Philadelphia was the scene tonight of one of the greatest flistic carnivals ever staged in this city.

Five six-round bouts of more than ordinary interest were held by managers of two rival clubs, at one of which were fought together Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, and Kid Williams, the bantamweight champion.

Kilbane, who had trained down to 122 pounds, the required weight for the bout, out-fought the bantamweight all the way.

At the other club the chief attractions were Charlie White, the Chicago lightweight, and Sam Robideau of this city. Young Ahern, middleweight champion of England, and Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, Ind., aspirant for that title; Jack McCarron of Allentown, Pa., had the edge on Soldier Bartfield, New York, another pair of hard-hitting middleweights and George Chaney of Baltimore outlasted Jimmy Fox, a California featherweight, the fight being stopped in the fifth.

Oldfield Wins 300-Mile Race. Venice, Cal., March 17.—Barney Oldfield won the 300-mile St. Patrick's day Grand Prix here today. William Carlson was second and Geo. E. Ruckstell third.

The official time for the race was: Oldfield, 4:24:09.2-5; Carlson 4:24:43.3-5; Ruckstell 4:27:27.

Nineteen cars started and twelve finished. Marquis' car, going 70 miles an hour, struck J. N. Ortiz, an aged spectator, severing his right leg.

Goethals Protests Against Boyd. Panama, March 17.—Major General George W. Goethals, governor of the Panama canal zone, has sent a cable message to Washington protesting against the appointment of Jorge Boyd as the Panamanian member of the joint land commission to survey his father, Federico Boyd, who resigned on account of illness.

Gen. Goethals informed the Washington government that it is his opinion Boyd should not become a member of the commission, as he is attorney for a number of claimants.

succeeded in retaking even a part of the four conquered by us.

"In the region of Perthes we have continued to make progress in the woods extending between Perthes and Souain. To the north of Perthes, despite three counter-attacks, we have held the trenches captured yesterday, which are of greater importance than the preceding communications indicated. In fact, we have gained possession of the military crest on the west of Hill 166 on a length of 800 metres in depth.

"This advance gives us not only the height, but command of all it overlooks on the northern side of the ridge, which extends from Perthes to Mailson. The enemy has felt the importance of this, because this morning he attempted to recapture the lost ground. A most violent counter-attack was led by a regiment of landsturm, supported by the guard. The Germans were literally mown down by our mitrailleuses.

The few survivors regained their trenches, pursued by our fire. But to sum up, all these fruitless attempts caused the enemy considerable losses.

"In the Arzonne and in the region of Vanquois, there was a violent cannonade, but no infantry action. All the gains previously made have been consolidated.

"At Bois le Petre some German concentrations which had maintained themselves near our trenches in excavations caused by the explosion of March 15 have been definitely driven from them."

Statement From Petrograd. Petrograd, via London, March 17.—The following official statement from the general headquarters staff:

"Our offensive on both banks of the Orontz river continues to develop in spite of the stubborn resistance of the enemy."

"The number of prisoners captured by us is increasing. Near Yendorozek we took from the Germans seventeen guns."

"In the Carpathians in the region of Rabbe our offensive has also made progress. We have again repulsed German and Austrian attacks in the direction of Stry and Mukachevo."

"At other points there has been no change."

British Casualty List. London, March 17, 11 p. m.—A casualty list issued by the admiralty tonight discloses that in the fighting in the Dardanelles Saturday night the light cruiser Amethyst, which, according to an Athens dispatch, made a dash through the mine field, was severely and 18 men slightly wounded.

The battleship Ocean had two men killed and the battleship Prince George two men wounded, while the cruiser Hovea had three men killed and two wounded.

112 Officers Killed. London, March 17, 8:25 p. m.—The British casualty lists for the five days from March 13 to March 17, inclusive, show that 112 officers were killed or died from wounds, and that 193 officers were wounded.

The list of casualties among the men has not been published as yet, nor have any figures been given out; but some competent critics estimate them at about two-thirds of those suffered by the Germans, which field Marshal Sir John French, the British commander-in-chief, said were between 17,000 and 18,000.

One Canadian officer was killed in the fighting and three Canadian officers were wounded.

Austrian War Office Statement. Vienna, March 17, via London, 9:45 p. m.—The Austrian war office today made public the following statement:

"Today and also yesterday the enemy made isolated attacks in Russian Poland and Western Galicia, which were repulsed. No important events have occurred in the Carpathians from the 13th to the 17th inclusive."

"Near Wyszakow enemy detachments repeatedly attempted during the night to re-take positions captured by us, but their attacks miscarried."

"South of the Kneiser engagements continue in some places but the situation is unchanged."

"Attacks by enemy infantry on the southern bank of the Pruth, near Czernowitz, were soon checked by our fire."

Russian Statement. Petrograd, March 17, via London, 9:25 p. m.—The following official report from the Russian army headquarters in the Caucasus was made public tonight:

"Our troops on the coast have captured the village of Orchesta on the Black sea (about 25 miles southwest of Batumi), and have occupied the district at the source of the river Archangelsk."

"In the direction of Adranout and Olti, the Turks have been vigorously repulsed."

Americans to be Protected. Washington, March 17.—Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople cabled the state department today that the Turkish government had given him assurance that every protection would be given noncombatants in Turkey during the war. Mr. Morgenthau had made representations on behalf of foreigners to the Porte on instructions from the American government.

Jews Driven Out of Russians. Washington, March 17.—The Austro-Hungarian embassy here made public tonight the following dispatch from the foreign office at Vienna:

"The commander-in-chief of the Russian army, under the pretext that the Austro-Hungarian army is sympathetic with Austrians and Germans render them spy services, has ordered that Jews are forbidden to remain in the districts occupied by the army and are forbidden to enter the country east of Jaroslau."

Further orders have been given for the taking of hostages for whom capital punishment by hanging is eventually provided."

Story of Sinking of Karlsruhe. London, March 18.—2:05 a. m.—Reuters' Copenhagen correspondent sends a story of the sinking of the German cruiser Karlsruhe, taken from the Stiffa-Tidende, which asserts that it obtains the story from an authoritative source.

According to the story the crew of the Karlsruhe were having tea one evening when a sudden explosion broke the cruiser in two. One half of the vessel sunk immediately, carrying down part of the crew with it. The other half floated for sometime, then enabled 150 to 200 men to be rescued by an accompanying steamer.

The steamer reached a German port with the survivors, who were sworn to secrecy concerning the sinking of the cruiser.

May Give Up Forcing Straits. Berlin, March 17.—By Wireless to Sayville, L. I.—Among the items given out today for publication by the Overseas News Agency were the following:

"A special dispatch from Constantinople to the Vossische Zeitung says it is generally believed that the gradual blackening of the bombardment of the Dardanelles is a preliminary to the giving up completely of the task of forcing the straits."

"The Berlin newspapers printed Great Britain's reprisal decree against Germany without a word of comment."

Reckon With Complete Blockade. London, March 17.—The Cologne Gazette, discussing the British order in council announcing reprisals against Germany, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam to Reuters' Telegraph company, says:

"We must now reckon with a complete blockade of our foreign trade insofar as this is possible for our enemies. It will, of course, be without significance on the issue of the war, although in other respects it may cause many kinds of damage."

"It will, however, lead us into waging a submarine warfare henceforth with complete abandonment and resolution, which will play all the advantages which this new and formidable weapon affords us. For England, foreign trade is a vital question, but it is not for us."

H. E. & W. T. Earns Profits. Dallas, March 17.—The Houston, East and West Texas railroad, connected with the Harriman system, is one Texas railroad that has earned a profit each year, according to testimony today of G. R. Cottingham, auditor of the Southern Railway system in Texas. Mr. Cottingham was before the Texas railroad commission, which is hearing the plea of Texas railroads for increased freight rates.

The Houston, East and West Texas, Mr. Cottingham said, had paid as high as 7.20 per cent annually on the "book cost" or railroad valuation of its property. This, he said, would be 13.96 per cent on the valuation placed upon its property by the commission.

The greater part of today's testimony went into details by which expenses and receipts of railroads are compared.

BADEN-POWELL AS A SPY. Tells How He Shot Partridge to Discover Gun Emplacements.

A German Baron von Stein, purchased in 1904 a villa three miles southeast of Liege and lived there most of the time and money on fixing up the grounds. Last August the turf of the tennis court was torn away by the German invaders, who used the concrete foundation underneath as an emplacement for one of their 18-inch howitzers with which they reduced the fortress. In the vicinity of Lille and Maubeuge, it was later declared, similar gun emplacements had been prepared. The following passage taken from Lieut.-Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell's new book, "Germany's Secret Plans," throws some additional light on the subject:

"Some years ago a report came to the war office that a foreign power was making gun emplacements in a position which had not before been suspected of being of military value, and they were evidently going to use it for strategic purposes."

"I was sent to see whether the report was true. Of course, it would not do to go as an officer—suspicions would be aroused, one would probably be arrested as a spy. I therefore went to stay with a friendly farmer in the neighborhood, and went out shooting every day among the partridges and snipe which abounded there. The first thing I did was to look at the country generally and try to think which points would be most valuable as positions for artillery."

"Then I went to look for partridges (and other things) on the hillsides. I had noticed, and I very soon found what I wanted."

"Officers were there, taking angles and measurements, accompanied by workmen, who were driving pegs into the ground and marking off lines with tapes between them."

"As I passed with my gun in my hand, bag on shoulder and dog at heel, they paid no attention to me, and from the neighboring hills I was able to watch their proceedings."

"When they went to their meals or returned to their quarters I went shooting over the ground they had left and if I did not see a big bag of game, at any rate I had a good collection of drawings and measurements of the plans of the forts and emplacements which they had traced out on the ground."

"So that within a few days of their starting to make them we had the plans all in our possession. Although they afterward planted trees all over the sites to conceal the forts and other things, and put up buildings in other places to hide them, we knew perfectly well their shapes and sizes."—New York Times.

Thin Men and Women Here's a Safe, Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 lbs. of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I don't get fat. I eat plenty of good, nourishing food."

The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless the food is properly assimilated. The fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—sore and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take the necessary steps.

Powers-Sargol is recommended so highly by physicians here and abroad. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and notice how quickly your cheeks fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Powers-Sargol Drug Co. and other good druggists have Sargol, or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated in the guarantee in each package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

Caution—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken unless you are willing to gain ten pounds or more, for it is a wonderful flesh builder.

class at Baylor university, and Felix a pupil in the ninth grade at the high school. Other immediate relatives include five sisters and two brothers, the sisters are Mrs. R. E. Spencer, Waco; Mrs. George C. Butte, Austin; Mrs. J. M. Higginbotham and Mrs. Carrie Faust, Dublin, and Mrs. Annie Pervis, Proctor. The two brothers are divisor Senator O. S. Lattimore of Fort Worth, and Sam H. Lattimore, an attorney of Muskogee, Okla. An uncle is Rev. W. C. Lattimore of Dallas, and an aunt is Mrs. N. E. Jorgess, recently of Waco but now of Dallas.

Was Industrious Worker. Prof. Lattimore was one of the hardest workers in the city. He rarely left his office before 7 o'clock in the evening and frequently worked much later than that. He had applied himself so closely to his work that his health had been impaired and he had given some consideration to asking a leave of absence from the board in order that he might take a long and much-needed rest. He was well known over the state, having been in frequent attendance upon all the conventions of the State Teachers' association, as well as upon the majority of the meetings of the superintendents' and principals' association of the National Education association.

On the occasion of the recent session of the latter association at Cincinnati, however, he asked the board that Mr. Genheimer, principal of the high school, be delegated to attend, and the board complied with his request. He officiated as secretary of the school board in addition to his duties as superintendent. With the exception of a few weeks, he witnessed the construction of one of the best high school buildings in the state, the erection of several modern ward schools, one new grammar school and considerable remodeling of another grammar school, and practically all of the ward schools.

Was Active Churchman. Next to his pride and interest in his school duties came that in his church. He had been a deacon of the First Baptist church for many years, was secretary of the board of deacons and teacher of a Bible class for men. He was also a member of the Rotary club.

According to tentative arrangements agreed upon last night, the funeral will be held from the First Baptist church at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Due to the loss of the honor of his death and inability to get word to the thousands of pupils in the public schools, it was thought possible last night that school would be held today as usual, with an adjournment Friday out of respect to the first match game for the state, and in order to permit the teachers and pupils to attend the funeral. It is thought all of the immediate relatives will arrive some time today.

Carranzistas Cease Attack. Brownsville, Tex., March 17.—Carranza troops virtually have ceased their attacks on Monterey, it was reported here today, and are withdrawing toward Tampico. Six thousand Carranza soldiers are said to have entered Tampico yesterday, making the total garrison there 21,000. Villa troops have been preparing to attack Tampico.

Boise, Idaho, Bents Burlingame. San Francisco, March 17.—Boise, Idaho, defeated Burlingame, Calif., today by a score of 74 goals to 14. Burlingame won the first match game for the Sacramento cups in the universal polo tournament which is being held under the auspices of the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Birmingham Wins. Orlando, Fla., March 17.—By piling up five runs in the seventh inning, the Birmingham Southern association team defeated the Philadelphia Americans 5 to 4 here today.

Everybody's Friend. Jack Podger was the most obliging man that ever lived.

A week or two ago, after cobbling a neighbor's boots, landing his cousin's gumball, sweeping the vicar's chimney and writing a testimonial for his charwoman's nephew, he retired to rest. He was awakened by a terrible bang at his front door, and immediately rushed to the window.

"What's the matter?" he bawled, irritably.

"You'll excuse me for troubling you at this time of the night," came the reply, "but the fact is our baby is very cross, and we would like you to come and pacify him. He always laughs when he sees your funny nose."—New York Evening World.

Pennsylvania Prosperity. Fifteen thousand Pennsylvania farmers own automobiles and more are buying. And the best of it they don't have to get up before daybreak to feed the critters.

England to Take Over All Factories to Supply Munitions

London, March 17.—The British government intends to take over control of the factories in England to produce war material. This announcement was made today by David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, at a conference of labor leaders, the representatives of various industries and the committee of imperial defense.

In an address appealing for an increase in the output of war material, the chancellor said:

"Recent battles have shown that the tremendous concentration of artillery fire recently—the greatest which has been witnessed upon any given point during the whole war—not only has insured success, but has saved the lives of the soldiers who made the attacks. Therefore, if the workmen and factory owners desire to save the country win and are anxious to save the lives of the men, they must accelerate the output of munitions."

To assist in this, the government has decided to take over the works. In doing so the government proposes to impose a limitation on the profits and to ask the men to relax trade union restrictions and put their whole strength into the work."

Zamor Under Arrest. Washington, March 17.—Creste Zamora, former president of Haiti, who was driven from his country by a recent revolution, is now under arrest at Port au Prince, the capital, awaiting trial on the charge of having entered the country without a passport before a decree of amnesty was issued by the new government.

The revolutionary army of General Guillaume, new president of Haiti, is reported to be disbanding.

Werner Horn Says He Blew Up Bridge as an Act of War

Bangor, Maine, March 17.—Werner Horn's claim that his attempt to blow up the international bridge at Vanceboro on Feb. 2 was an act of war will be argued before United States Commissioner Reid here tomorrow.

Counsel for Horn announced tonight that they would oppose his removal from this city to Boston on the ground that the case was one for the state department to act upon and not for the courts.

Horn's removal is sought on an indictment returned by the federal grand jury, charging him with the illegal interstate transportation of dynamite.

Guard German Ship Against Damage at Newport News, Va.

Newport News, Va., March 17.—As the result of threatening letters said to have been received by Commander Thierichsen of the German cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, precautionary measures were taken tonight to guard against any attempt to damage the ship. The pier to which the Eitel is moored is fenced in and extra guards are on patrol.

One of the letters received by the Prinz Eitel captain is said to have demanded that he leave this port at once, or his vessel will be dynamited.

Port authorities still are without definite information tonight as to how long the German commander desires to remain here.

St. Patrick's in New York. New York, March 17.—St. Patrick's day was celebrated in this city today by a big parade along Fifth avenue and in virtually all of the downtown hotels tonight diners arranged by St. Patrick and Irish societies were held.

Cameronia Runs Blockade. London, March 17.—The major line steamer Cameronia, which arrived at Liverpool from New York, March 15, with a cargo valued at $5,000,000, successfully ran the German blockade. The vessel reports that she was chased by three German underwater boats on her voyage through the Irish Sea.

Greek Steamer Needs Help. Key West, Fla., March 17.—The British steamer Morazan, which passed Sand Key late today, reported that on March 10 she spoke the Greek steamer Nefeli, latitude 32 north, longitude 80 west, in distress, and of fuel. According to the Morazan's master, the Nefeli needed assistance.

VILLA LEVIES TAX TO FEED THE PEOPLE

MEXICAN GENERAL TELLS HOW SITUATION IN MONTEREY WAS RELIEVED.

MERCHANTS HAD RAISED PRICES

Chieftain of the North Then Compels Them to Pay One Million Pesos.

El Paso, March 17.—In a telegram dated Monterey yesterday and received here today, General Villa described his method of relieving the food situation there.

"Upon my arrival in this city I found too much disquietude and some hostility toward us as manifested in the behavior of the people," he said. "The merchants had increased their prices on merchandise from six to eight times their value in normal times. Even the soldiers of my army were in a desperate condition, as their pay did not afford them enough to eat. Several appeals were made to the merchants asking that they take into consideration the condition of the people, but all to no avail."

"I told the merchants what I thought of their behavior at a meeting which I called last Sunday, and I compelled them to pay a tax of 1,000,000 pesos, an amount which I shall employ in buying provisions to give away to the poor."

"I have ordered a train for the service of the government of Nuevo Leon, especially to carry provisions for the soldiers. I have ordered that all industries must have coal in order to operate their business."

A movement has been begun here for a fund to relieve the suffering of the inhabitants of the Guadalupe district.

Gambling Houses and Saloons Contribute to Campaign Funds

Indianapolis, March 17.—Evidence in the Terry Hunt election case today tended to show that saloon and gambling house keepers not only contributed to the campaign funds, but were ordered to contribute to a fund raised for the defense in the present trial.

Other testimony alleged that Mayor Don M. Roberts demonstrated a voting machine plan to cheat a man out of his vote and that there were more repeaters than legal voters in one precinct.

Two women were among the witnesses.

Jack Johnson Says His Father's Spirit Gave Him Warning

Havana, March 17.—Here is the real inside story of why Jack Johnson refused to go to Juarez and fight Jess Willard on Mexican soil. He wasn't afraid of Willard; he believed that he could evade the Carranza agents and land safely in the arms of Promoter Jack Curley; he didn't worry about getting away with his $30,000 purse, he sneered at the idea that the Mann act was one on which extradition could be based, and he was firm in the belief that he could come, see and conquer—but—

He had a dream and that dream settled the fate of the Juarez quarrel.

The writer of this story interviewed Johnson on the day the black champion landed in Havana. Johnson was willing to listen to reason and was making hard efforts to start for Mexico. But the next day he was as hard as the ebony wood he so much resembles. He received Curley's cables and answered them all to the effect that here he was in Havana, and here he would stay. Nothing on earth could move him. And now, for the first time, comes the reason.

Johnson is a native of Galveston, Texas, the home of the most superstitious negroes on earth. Johnson is a product of superstition.

"On scores of times I have had a direct warning from my dead father," declared Johnson. "Time and time again he has appeared to me in dreams with the warning that I was taking the wrong course and was bound to get into trouble. All the difficulties in which I have been involved might have been avoided had I heeded the warnings my father gave me in dreams.

"I came to Havana fully determined to sail the next day for Tampico, where Curley had men waiting for me. I stopped off in Havana one night, and that night I had the dream that settled the fate of the Juarez fight. In the middle of the night the form of my dead father appeared and gave solemn warning that my trip to Mexico would result only in failure, capture and disaster.

"For one of the few times in my life I heeded his warning, and now I find out that he was, as usual, right. Instead of a doubtful fight in Mexico, I am sure of a wonderful house in Havana and the people here have made a lion out of me. Never again will I ignore the warning which has held me in security and financial safety here, and has made the Havana fight so assured success."

Would Raise Rates on Broomcorn in Western Territory

Chicago, March 17.—C. C. P. Rausch, assistant general freight agent of the Missouri Pacific Iron Mountain system, testified in the western railroad freight case today in behalf of the railroads' petition for an increase in rates on broomcorn, among other commodities of 2c a 100 pounds on shipments from eastern Colorado, western Kansas, Oklahoma, northern Texas and eastern New Mexico to the east. He also testified the present rate on hay from western points was insufficient to yield the roads an adequate income. He said the rates asked for were not higher than rates already granted on the same commodities in eastern territory.

Samuel Wasserman, representing the shippers, in cross-examination stated that the witness had compared territory in the west where advances were asked only with eastern territory where rates were high and asked the witness if that was fair.

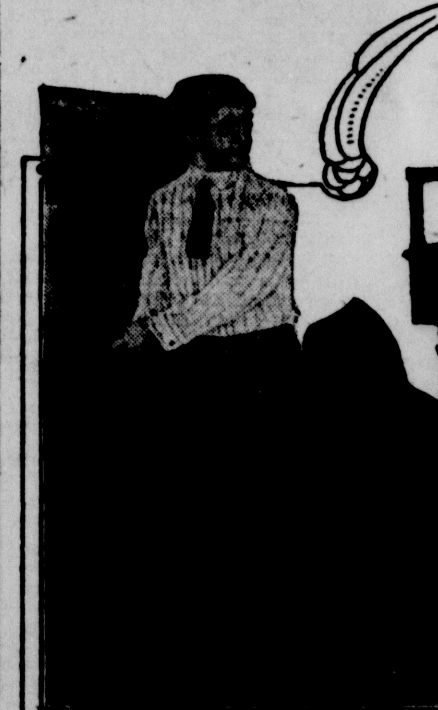

Mr. Rausch replied he had made comparisons only where equal distances were involved. Hay and broomcorn are among the minor commodities on which the roads asked increased rates.

NEW PLAYER ARRIVES: PLAN TO MEET GIANTS

BOLD, LAST YEAR IN TRI-STATE LEAGUE, DONS NAVIGATOR TOGS.

M'GRAW WILL BRING REGULARS

Hardy Looks for Giant Wrecking Crew to Attempt to Wipe Out Sunday's Defeat.

Charles Bold, a husky first baseman from the Tri-state league, arrived in Waco yesterday and donned a Navigator suit at the afternoon workout. Bold played in 24 games last year in the Tri-state, batting .256 and fielding .979. The big fellow is a Bostonian and speaks his native language fluently. His erudition is undoubtedly once one hears him speak of "Hawvord" and he fairly embraces the name of his beloved city as he rolls "Babstun" from his tongue.

The new man impressed all who saw him work yesterday as having worn a glove before. He has all the finish of a big leaguer. To old-timers, at first glance, he will look exactly like Ellis Hardy looked six or seven years ago. Off stage Bold believes his name, being a quiet sort of a chap, but on the occasion of his first appearance in the grandstands yesterday afternoon's rehearsal he wasn't retiring in the least. The big "un looks as if he might handle a pair of four-ounce gloves or a couple of blow handles with facility equaling that displayed when he buzzes 'em across the diamond or raps one on the nose with a yard of hickory.

Good Men to Go.

So far the tinware has been but little disturbed in the Navigator camp, but it probably will begin to rattle soon. Some perfectly good men are due for a canning, but by rights they don't deserve it. It's not a matter of recent years, "The Blue Mouse." This piece, which registered a whirlwind success in New York and upon the Virginia State league, has been one of the greatest stock hits. Wherever he has played a stock engagement, this bill has had a rendition and it has never failed.

Miss Dainty will play the role of Paulette Devine, a comic opera star known as the Blue Mouse. It is a wonderfully written part—only of the richest in point of comedy, that Miss Dainty will have played here during her long engagement. It also gives her good opportunities for lavish costuming.

"The Blue Mouse" is a story of a young man's success in obtaining a high position in a large corporation, and by means of an intimate knowledge of his employer's character, Mr. Llewellyn, the president of a railroad, who is married to a woman whom he loves but who is very old-fashioned. He enjoys a little innocent flirtation now and then, and to pretend to Llewellyn that she is his wife and to secure for him the vacant position. The scheme works. How, must be seen to be appreciated.

Bunch Takes Hike.

The bunch was taken on a scenic trip on the Ankle Express yesterday morning. Lengthy Crichlow's pocket pe-meter registered 10 miles flat. In the afternoon they were lined up on the diamond for their daily recitations and gave a snappy account of themselves. A few more days of good weather and the bunch will all be in a fit condition to take the McGraw tussle here for the revenge.

He is planning down in the Marlin camp. Jaw never learned the meaning of defeat when he went to Chicago, and he has been struggling over the compounded affairs which were wished on him by the last week's victory. The last week's victory was a success, but it was a success that he had to pay for. There is little doubt but that he will be here with his complete wrecking crew Saturday and Sunday and no one would be surprised to see him stake up against the last week's victorious Naves such notorious characters as Tesreau, Matty Meyers, Doyle and others. In fact the bunch that will try to bring the "world series" to the Polo grounds this year will try to wipe out last Sunday's defeat. It will be remembered that a few years ago Ellis Hardy, who was coming a college nine out on the North Waco hill, had the "noise" to flaunt a win in the face of the giant recruits. The week following McGraw headed a procession of fancy-salaried artists back to Waco from Marlin and proceeded to punish the purple and white wearers for their audacity. Rube Marquard was in his prime at that time, and the big left-hander, under strict orders from the bossman, cocked his head to one side and buzzed "em through in such a way as to stop the growth of the young rah-rah lads all the rest of the summer. He will more than likely have the opportunity of welcoming the honest-to-gosh Giants to our city Saturday and Sunday.

SCHULENBERG IN M. T. LEAGUE.

Temple, March 17.—Failing to come to the scratch, Taylor was dismissed from consideration as a member of the Middle Texas baseball league this season at a league meeting held at Taylor yesterday and Schulerberg was admitted as the sixth club.

The financial proposition and guarantees offered by the Fayette county town representatives present at the meeting were too strong to be disregarded. The league will therefore comprise Austin, Brenham, Belton, Bartlett, Schulerberg and Temple.

Doak Roberts of Houston has agreed to draft the league schedule and will get to work on same at once. The regular league season will open April 15.

"Beating Back." The life story of Al Jennings, former outlaw, as pictured by the Hippodrome Theatre. Jennings has been acknowledged by press and public to be the most remarkable film of his kind ever produced. Occupying six reels with Al Jennings himself as the principal character, the picture marks an epoch in the search for the unusual. Jennings, prior to becoming a "long rider" had been county prosecutor, sending many bandits to the penitentiary for the wrongdoings, but he was finally arrested for his own wrongdoings and sent to the penitentiary.

The citizens of Oklahoma gave a sigh of relief. Through the intervention of Senator Mark Hanna, however, Jennings was pardoned by President McKinley. Subsequently President Roosevelt restored his citizenship. In the film, which was staged by Carroll Fleming, former general producing director at the New York Hippodrome, all the Jennings deeds of outlawry are portrayed, together with the story of his life succeeding his capture and imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary.

Photographers will have the opportunity of witnessing this unique photograph in six reels with Al Jennings himself playing the title role, at the Queen theatre today.

"A Gentleman of Leisure."

One of the many unique qualities in the production of "A Gentleman of Leisure," with Wallace Eddinger in the stellar role, is that this picturesque picture, though containing a comedy in character, also contains a moral. At one period of the action the society man succeeds in bribing the police commissioner whom he hopes to make his father-in-law. And, in the end, Mr. Commissioner has to promise to touch no more tainted money. This picture will be shown at the Queen tomorrow.

"The Girl Who Might Have Been."

Daisy Jennings, having received a slight affection of the lungs, is dismissed from the dance hall as useless. She has no place to go, no way of earning money, and as she stands weeping in the street George Fowler, a prospector, learning her story, offers her a home with him in his cabin in the mountains. Daisy gratefully accepts. Life in the open restores her health and she grows to love Fowler, but he is completely absorbed in getting out "dust" to send for his own restoration. He stages on which his gold goes out is robbed. Fowler, himself, is away on a prospecting trip and Daisy gets the impression that he has abandoned her. She succeeds in gathering enough spoils to send Mrs. Fowler her fare to the west. The wife is warmly welcomed by the husband and she begs Daisy to make her home with them indefinitely, but she has the wisdom to go away. "The Girl Who Might Have Been" will be shown at the Rex today.

TAFT URGES SUPPORT OF WILSON'S POLICIES

IN SPEECH BEFORE STUDENTS, SPEAKS OF "CRITICAL PERIOD."

Saneness and Conservatism Which Characterized Framers of the Constitution.

Chapel Hill, N. C., March 17.—The united support of the country for the policies of President Wilson in "this critical period" was urged here tonight by former President Taft in a lecture to students of the University of North Carolina.

Whatever party criticisms there might be of the present policies, he said, should be deferred until the crisis is past.

Emphasizing what he termed the saneness and conservatism which characterized the framers of the constitution in their work, the former president entered a vigorous protest against a constitutional convention to amend the nation's fundamental law. "There are those," he declared, "who think they can improve the constitution by blowing it up. Fortunately, they are in the minority."

With the statement that 65,000 laws have been enacted by congress in the past five years, Mr. Taft characterized the flood of legislation as a tendency to yield to the "magic" of "the it enacted" and advocated a rest for the country from legislation.

Mother-in-law of Gov. Ferguson Dead

Temple, March 17.—The death of Mrs. Eliza E. Wallace, the mother of Mrs. James E. Ferguson, wife of Texas governor, occurred at the home near Belton this afternoon. She was 74 years of age. Both Governor and Mrs. Ferguson were with her when the end came. Funeral arrangements had not been completed tonight.

Governor Ferguson was en route to Austin from Dallas, where he testified before the Federal Industrial Relations committee, and spent the greater part of yesterday and today with Mrs. Ferguson at the bedside of Mrs. Wallace.

Secretary of State John G. McKay, who was confined to his room at a hotel here yesterday by indisposition, is recovered sufficiently to be permitted to travel to his home at Austin, although by no means out of danger.

Trades Commission Meets With Wilson

Washington, March 17.—A program of what Chairman Davies characterized as "constructive helpfulness" for the new federal trades commission was mapped out tonight at a long conference at the White House between members of the commission and President Wilson.

It was the first formal meeting between the president and the commissioners since they organized early this week.

Following the conference Mr. Davies announced that the commission would begin immediately the investigation authorized by the law creating the body into common selling agencies maintained by many foreign corporations, with the view to a re-organization on whether similar agencies could be organized by American business.

The bureau of corporations, which was automatically merged into the new commission, already has carried on a general investigation of foreign business methods.

FRENCH WILL PURCHASE COTTON ON SHIP DACIA

CARGO IS VALUED AT ABOUT $750,000—VESSEL MUST BE LEFT TO PRIZE COURT.

Law Does Not Permit of Transfer of Ship of Hostile Country to Neutral.

Paris, March 17.—The French foreign office, it is understood, has decided to buy the cargo of cotton aboard the steamship Dacia which was seized by a French cruiser and taken into port while on a voyage from the United States to Rotterdam. The cotton is valued at about $750,000 and it has been proposed by the owners of the vessel that the French government purchase the cargo.

The disposition of the ship must be left to a prize court, but the official view is clear. The French law, it is pointed out, does not permit the transfer of a ship belonging to a hostile country to a neutral during war. The Dacia belonged formerly to the Hamburg-American line, but she changed her registry and became an American ship after the outbreak of hostilities. Captain George McDonald, master of the Dacia, arrived here today and it is his intention to remain until the prize court proceedings are ended.

William G. Sharp, the American ambassador, has several conversations with Foreign Minister Delcasse at the foreign office recently when M. Delcasse expressed the desire of the French government in applying regulations against contraband to give as little inconvenience as possible to American interests.

Duval West Goes to Vera Cruz, Mex.

San Antonio, Tex., March 17.—A message received here today from New Orleans announced the departure from that city of Duval West, personal representative of President Wilson, for Havana, from where he will sail at once for Vera Cruz. Mr. West left San Antonio Monday night upon receipt of instructions to go direct to Vera Cruz and see General Carranza. It is understood that he found instructions from Secretary Bryan as to the mission which Carranza was to place upon his arrival in New Orleans.

To Defend Matamoros Against Villistas

San Antonio, March 17.—Carranza forces are preparing to defend Matamoros, opposite Brownsville, Texas, against an attack of Villistas reported to be heading in that direction with the intention of establishing a port of entry on the Texas border.

General E. P. Nafarrete, commanding the garrison, has thrown up breastworks 12 to 15 feet high on three sides of the town and is placing his artillery. He is reported to have at least twenty-five machine guns and at least half a dozen field pieces. Another message announces the withdrawal of Carranzista troops from the vicinity of Monterey and it is believed that 3000 of these will be brought up to meet the Villistas moving to attack Matamoros. This is said to account for the inactivity of the Villistas where General Gonzalez is holding only enough forces to insure a siege while dispatching troops to the defense of Matamoros.

Eitel Friedrich's Captain and Fellow Officers Apparently Happy and Uncolored Over Position; Captives Ashore

Commander Thierichens of the German sea rover Prinz Eitel Friedrich celebrated his birthday following his entrance to Newport News, Va., with over 300 prisoners, gathered from eleven vessels, including the American merchant ship William P. Frye, which he had sunk during his career as a raider since he left China at the outbreak of the war. This German naval officer appeared happy and unconcerned over his present position, and so did his fellow officers, including Captain Mundi, who commanded the ship when she was a North-German Lloyd liner before the war began, and Lieutenant Bauer, first assistant to Commander Thierichens. The prisoners were put ashore and admitted as immigrants, except those who were Americans and belonged to the crew of the Frye.

Villa and Angeles Are to Separate

San Antonio, Tex., March 17.—Two messages received today by the San Antonio peace convention committee indicate a separation of Villa and Angeles with the latter heading an independent organization or party. One message came from Monterey in which General Felipe Angeles is quoted as saying: "I fully realize that in the pacification of Mexico, tactics different from those of Villa and his employing must be adopted. Guarantees to foreigners and natives must be enforced absolutely and unless a liberal minded policy is employed the pacification of the republic will take longer and the cost in life and property be much greater than anticipated."

Another message says the break between Villa and Angeles has been precipitated by the members of the Madero family insisting upon the execution of certain persons designated as enemies of the former Madero administration and to Villa, who is supported by the Maderos. Angeles is reported as having replied that he guaranteed protection to these and other Mexicans as well as foreigners and that his guarantee would not be violated.

MAJESTIC.

"The Slums of New York."

Today the Adelaide Irving company present the initial performance of "The Slums of New York," the sparkling pleasure-maker which will please large audiences for the remaining three days of the present week. To say that the play is up to the standard of the other Adelaide Irving productions is to give it at once the highest praise and the most positive assurance that large houses will see each presentation. Majestic bills have pleased in the past, and Manager Ingraham assures the patrons of his theatre that every piece that is put into scenery for the Majestic stage must come up to the standard.

Beginning next week, the Majestic will add the top of the top to the already finished aggregation of talent, when Miss Daisy Dean Weil, the South's favorite dancer, will begin to delight her Waco friends every performance. MARKET REPORT

COTTON

New York, March 17.—There was another sharp advance in cotton at the opening, with July and later deliveries making new high seasonal records, but the close was followed by a realization, and the close was at a gain of only 1 1/2 points.

Continued strength of Liverpool was a factor at the start and first prices were 11 points higher, with July selling at 9.32 compared with 8.55 the low point reached on the break of March 1, and the high record of last January.

The high record of last January was being covered by some of yesterday's sales for a turn and considerable demand from Wall street and western sources, which was believed to be partly covered by investors who had taken profits earlier in the week. Offerings, however, included some southern selling, while there also was some moderate selling here by houses with German connections, which some thought might be against cotton likely to be tied up by shipping uncertainties and prices soon expected to within 5 or 6 points of yesterday's close.

Business became less active after Liverpool's close and there were rallies to the high point of the morning, but on every advance to around 9.60 in October realizing was in evidence, and the market turned easier in the late trading, closing at the lowest point of the day.

Houses with New Orleans connections were sellers here on the late decline and some of the private wires received here are claimed there had been some offering of cotton for resale by exporters, private cables attributed the advance in Liverpool to continued French and Russian buying, larger spot sales and small offerings.

Today's port receipts 35,117 bales. U. S. cotton 1,524,525 bales. Exports 35,380; so far this season 6,055,508. Interior receipts 15,272; shipments 12,911.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, March 17.—New high level for the season were reached on the cotton market today as the result of strong stimulation chiefly by news from Liverpool. July was received from the market for the first time, touching 9.01, while December sold up to 9.50. At best prices they were 9 to 11 points over yesterday's close. Heavy realizing of profits by the long side met the rise and checked it. In the afternoon the market had southerly selling, and cotton strongly and the close was at a net gain for the session of 3 to 4 points.

Not only did Liverpool stand better than due on futures, but it reported sales of 15,000 bales, while Manchester reports were favorable. The one bearing argument of importance was that the continued rise would have the effect of causing a much larger area to be planted to cotton this spring in the south.

SPOTS.

Galveston, March 17.—Cotton spot was strong. Good middling 5.50; middling 5.35; low middling 5.20; sales 15,000; receipts 15,000.

Standard Remedy For Many Homes

Indigestion and constipation are two conditions closely related and the cause of much physical suffering. The tendency to indulge one's appetite is general, so that most people suffer at some time or another from rebellion of the overtaxed organs of digestion and elimination. A simple, pleasantly effective remedy that will quickly relieve the congestion of poisonous waste and restore regularity is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a mild, pleasant laxative- tonic and digestant, absolutely free from opiates or narcotic drugs and has been the standard household remedy in countless homes for many years. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 432 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

MISS M. HALIBURTON IS GIVEN NEW TITLE

SUPERVISOR OF PRIMARY WORK ELECTED ASSISTANT SUPER-INTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

Action Taken to Meet Requirement of State Law—No Increase in Salary Made.

Miss M. Haliburton, supervisor of primary work in the Waco public schools, has been elected assistant superintendent of the schools, though the new position will not levy any additional duties upon her, nor will it carry any increase in salary. The election was made upon the suggestion of the state superintendent of public instruction and had for its purpose the meeting of some local criticism based upon a requirement of the law that all teachers in the public schools shall hold a state teachers' certificate.

Under the law the board is authorized to employ specialists as supervisors, regardless of whether they have state certificates, but in view of the fact that even a supervisor does some teaching, some of the critics contended the letter of the law was not being fully tracked, and the board appealed to the state superintendent for a ruling. This official advised that the law did not require that a superintendent have a state teacher's certificate, and suggested that the objection be met by electing Miss Haliburton as an assistant superintendent. The board adopted this suggestion and made the election accordingly.

Home Gardening Plan Will Be Taken Up in Waco Next Week

The representative of the Texas Industrial Congress, who is traveling over the state arousing interest in the planting of back yards and vacant lots to gardens, will be in Waco next week. In conjunction with Secretary E. F. Drake of the Chamber of Commerce, an active campaign will be waged in the city. The Texas Industrial Congress is giving special effort to this feature this year, and is meeting with success in all the large cities visited. Secretary Drake, who has attained prominence with his "Pig for Every Boy" plan, is enthusiastic over the prospect for reducing the cost of living for the householders of the city.

The representative of the congress was to have been in Waco yesterday, but did not finish his work in Temple, where he is now conducting a campaign.

JITNEY MEN DECLARE LAW TOO STRINGENT

SAY PASSAGE OF PROPOSED ORDINANCE WOULD DRIVE THEM OUT OF BUSINESS.

TO MAKE OBJECTION MONDAY

City Commission Will Be Asked to Modify License, Bond and Route Provisions.

The passage of the proposed ordinance regulating jitneys in the city will mean the end of this mode of transportation in Waco, according to the statements of several of the jitney owners. Sections of the ordinance particularly objected to by the jitney men are those requiring a bond of $5000 to guarantee against property damage caused by the machines, the heavy license fee, and the requirement for continuous operation of the jitneys between 6:30 a. m. and 10:30 p. m. Jitney men say that under the proposed ordinance it will require $135 to pay the license fee and premiums on bonds required before a jitney can be operated in the city. As a basis for their claim that the bond for property damage is excessive they say that it is impossible for a jitney car to do property damage to the extent of $5,000. The premium for this amount of this class of insurance is $25. The new Dallas ordinance regulating jitney cars in that city provides for a bond of $2500 to cover damage to both individuals and property. The ordinance as drawn up by City Attorney Maxwell and passed to its third reading at the meeting of the city commission Tuesday requires a bond to cover damages to persons of a maximum of $10,000. This makes the total bond to be required of jitney owners $25,000. Premiums demanded for this class of hazard are large, and with the $25 minimum license fee required under the proposed ordinance, will put the jitneys out of business in Waco, according to those involved. The license fee as set by the Dallas ordinance is $10, and jitneys are not compelled to run regularly throughout the day. This provision of the proposed Waco ordinance is most objectionable to the jitney men, representatives of whom will appear before the commission Monday, when the jitney ordinance is advanced to its final reading. It is probable that an attorney will be employed to represent motor bus owners, who will endeavor to get the city commission to eliminate some of the most drastic features of the proposed law.

Next Wednesday Set for Clean-up Day

If Jupiter Pluvius approves the choice of date, and shows his approval by holding off rain for a week, next Wednesday, March 24, will be clean-up day in Waco. Commissioner J. A. Littlefield announced to the city commission at its meeting yesterday afternoon that the city sanitary department would attempt to induce a thorough clean-up of the whole city. To bring this about circulars will be scattered to every house in the city. These circulars will be in the form of orders signed by the mayor and health commissioner, calling upon all householders to clean up their premises, sidewalks and alleys. The rubbish gathered in this manner must be placed in convenient spots for the sanitary department, which will employ extra men and teams to remove all refuse. The city will remove all refuse except ashes, which must be disposed of by the householder. Suitable penalties will be provided for refusal or failure to clean up, and a sufficient number of inspectors will be put on duty by the city to see that the clean-up order is obeyed.

A Quinine That Won't Make You Nervous

FERRILINE is a trade-mark name which designates the first, original and only reliable Tasteless Syrup of Quinine. An improved Quinine, pleasant to take; does not nauseate nor cause nervousness. Children take it and never know it is Quinine. Especially adapted to adults who cannot take ordinary Quinine. Ask for this feature this year, and is meeting with success in all the large cities visited. Secretary Drake, who has attained prominence with his "Pig for Every Boy" plan, is enthusiastic over the prospect for reducing the cost of living for the householders of the city.

The representative of the congress was to have been in Waco yesterday, but did not finish his work in Temple, where he is now conducting a campaign.

CHRIST NOT DISTANT THE ME OF SERMON

BISHOP WINCHESTER PREACHES FROM STORY OF JESUS BEFORE PONTIUS PILATE.

MANY REGRETTED TOO LATE

Episcopal Prelate From Arkansas Tells of Hiram and the Rejected Cornerstone.

"Christ is not distant, but is with us at all times," declared Bishop J. R. Winchester of Little Rock, Ark., in his sermon last night at St. Paul's Episcopal church. Bishop Winchester is a pleasing speaker and he handled his theme in a very impressive manner. For his text he took Matthew 27:22, "What shall I do with this Jesus, which is called Christ?" In part, he said: "If we had no other testimony than the Roman historian, the key to history or humanity is none save Jesus the Christ. The beautiful picture of Christ before Pontius Pilate is more like Pilate before Christ. "Pilate represents a problem before us in the picture. Humans have been beset with unending problems and troubles for all generations. There is the Mexican problem perplexing the cabinet and President Wilson, and there is the great worldwide war, which the wise have left in the hands of God. "The problem in the picture represented by Christ before Pilate is humanity before God. "It matters not in literature who wrote the 'Satire of Julius'—Julius' letters will go down to posterity. The flowers in the field are but the smile of the Creator. These are matters of indifference. "Pilate is the one that has gone down as the slayer of the Christ. He did not listen to the intuition of his wife, when she said, 'Do not suffer anything to befall this good man.' She was troubled with a dream that she had that day. He did not heed his conscience, but the will of the world, who wanted Him crucified. This is the same principle as the young man who takes his cup and says to himself, he will do it no more, but finds too late that it is a mistake by taking this first and not heeding his conscience. "What is more pitiful than the case of Voltaire, whose nurse said she could not longer stay at the bedside of a man who denied Christ? I have never known a Christian man or woman who ever regretted accepting Jesus Christ; but many of those who did not accept Him have regretted it on their deathbed; but it was too late. "Hiram, the widow's son, cut a stone, oblong in shape, which would not fit a magnificent building that was in the course of construction. Hiram was put to death, and the stone was thrown away in some rubbish. There came a time when it was necessary to lay a certain stone, and this stone was brought out and put in the building as the cornerstone of the magnificent structure. Our cornerstone in the church is Christ. "In literature, there would have been no literature had there been no Christ. We have such glorious authors as Milton. Had Lord Byron accepted Christ in his writings, he would have had the same place as Milton. "Then we have in the religious world the assurance in these words, 'On this rock I will build my church.' We cannot build a church on creeds, for the rock was Christ. "Christ is not distant, but is with us at all times. He ended his sermon by quoting the familiar hymn, 'Just as I Am, With nothing in my hand, I come to Thee, O Lord, My God, My Father, Amen.' Misses Sallie Keith and Fern Thurman and Alessis, John De Heck and A. C. Upleger sang a quartet, 'Lead, Kindly Light.'

The Progress club has signed a two-year lease for the quarters recently vacated by the Philo club, located at Eighth and Austin streets. The Progress also purchased the furniture of the club rooms. Several months ago the Progress club acquired property at Nineteenth and Jefferson streets, proposing to erect a club house there. Stringent financial conditions have delayed this construction and the present lease is intended to fill in the time until the club has its own home. Cigars Lead to Arrest. Four fat, high-priced cigars protruding from the pocket of a man led to the recovery yesterday of $100 worth of whiskey and cigars, stolen from the Clear Rock bar Monday night. Officers were working on the case yesterday. At a negro boarding house, Detective Sam Sheppard noticed the classy smokers in the pocket of a negro who, on being questioned by the officers, claimed that he had no knowledge of the theft. He said the cigars were given to him by a friend who had plenty more, also a large supply of whiskey. The negro led the officers to the room of his friend, where the stuff was found. The friend was arrested. The negro whose cigars led to the discovery was not taken into custody, as it was established that he had just reached the city Tuesday. According to the latest estimate, there are more than 1,735,000 automobiles in the United States and about 500,000 in Europe.

J. B. WHITE KILLED BY BROTHER-IN-LAW

REAL ESTATE MAN IS FATALLY SHOT WHILE STANDING ON POSTOFFICE STEPS.

ASSAILANT GIVES HIMSELF UP

Probability Is That the Case Will Be Turned Over to the Federal Courts.

Joseph B. White, age 35, real estate dealer of the city, is dead at the Providence sanitarium, and Tom Parker, city marshal of Cameron, White's brother-in-law, is in the county jail, as the result of a shooting affray on the Fourth street steps of the postoffice building yesterday afternoon at 6:20 o'clock. Passersby had seen the two men standing within the space made by the bend of the walls that mark the boundary of the government property for fully half an hour. Three shots were fired by Parker from an automatic pistol, two of them taking effect. The first, which caused White's death two hours later, entered the right breast just above the heart, severing the arteries at the base of the lungs. The other bullets entered the neck from the left side, ranging downward and emerging just at the shoulder on the right side. Parker surrendered to police officers of the city, who took him to the city jail, from which he was transferred to the county authorities. Since the shooting occurred on government property, the case will be turned over to the federal courts. At the county jail last night Parker declined to make any statement. White was taken to the Providence sanitarium in the police ambulance. He was conscious for the greater part of the time required to make the run, conversing with a Morning News reporter. When the rough streets that intervene between the end of North Fifteenth street pavement and the sanitarium were reached the jolting caused the injured man much pain, and the wounded man became unconscious, passing into a violent state. Parker surrendered to police officers. Patrolman H. S. Head was just across the street from the postoffice when he heard the three shots, close together. He said he rushed across the street toward the man, and that Parker came to meet him. The two met about the middle of the sidewalk in front of the steps, where Officer Head said Parker handed an automatic revolver to him, saying, "Well, officer, I want my gun." Parker took another revolver from inside his coat and handed it to the officer also, saying, "I guess you want them all." Officer Head, then said Parker said to him: "Well, I reckon I have killed my brother-in-law. He (pointing to the wounded man, who was crouched just at the foot of the steps leading from the South Fourth street sidewalk up to the postoffice lobby) was my brother-in-law. His name is Joe White, and he lives in Waco. My name is Tom Parker. I am city marshal at Cameron." Parker laid down his gun, and displayed his badge. "White and his wife had separated today," continued Parker. Mrs. White took the Sap train at 6 o'clock for Cameron, going home. "We were talking the matter over, when he remarked that he would kill her and me, too. I shot him." County Attorney John B. McNamara last night consulted with United States Commissioner J. P. McCormick and said that it was probable the case would be turned over to the federal authorities. It was reported last night that parties from Cameron, friends of Parker, would come to Waco on learning of the killing, would attempt to obtain his release on bail. County Attorney McNamara said last night that he would fight any such attempt to obtain his release. White was formerly clerk of the Royal hotel, which formerly stood at Fifth and Franklin streets. He has been operating in real estate since building was torn down to make room for the Waco hotel, for which the excavation is being done. He was also attempting to market an invention for which he had secured a patent. Praetorian Installation. Newly elected officers of the Central Texas Council No. 574 of the Modern Order of Praetorians were installed at the meeting of the council Tuesday night in the Knights of Columbus hall. Two delegates to the senate, the supreme body of the order, were elected to the state, H. S. Moore and Mrs. J. E. Warner. Waco will make a strong effort to secure the next session of the state senate for this city. District Manager W. A. Laughlin installed the following officers: A. H. B. Cornelissen, sublime augustus; H. O. Starling, senior tribune; L. S. Chiles, junior tribune; E. O. Post, first centurion; L. G. Stewart, second centurion; J. E. Warner, soothsayer; Mrs. Nannie Kelly, praetorian queen; W. H. Gohagan, attorney; Mrs. Mabel McGinnis, musician. Jailor Costley's Father Ill. Ed Costley, jailer at the county jail, has received word that his father, W. E. Costley, is seriously ill at Joshua, Texas. The elder Costley is 82 years of age. Mr. Costley said yesterday that he would probably go to Joshua in a day or so unless his father improved.

Standard Printing Company Observes Second Birthday

To mark its second anniversary the Standard Printing company kept open house last night from 7:30 to 10:30, and many friends called to honor the occasion. The Standard was two years old last night, but it is already such a lusty youngster that it no longer requires the coddling that all good protectionists think should be given infant industries. The directors of the company—E. A. White and W. N. Blanton, city salesman, A. H. Gans, office manager, and T. D. Whiteman, superintendent of the mechanical department, were all out in front to extend the glad hand. Growing and flowering plants, even the Tipperary carnation for St. Patrick's day, gave an air of spring to the stationery store in front, while in the mechanical department behind the dull iron or bright steel of the printing machinery smoldered or gleamed under the lights. Employees of the company explained the workings of type and press to those uninitiated into the mysteries of the art, and preservative of all arts, and samples of the best work were shown in abundance. Delicious punch was served by Mrs. A. H. Gans and Mrs. T. D. Whiteman. While the splendid voice of Mrs. J. G. Wren was heard, a companion, even piano music. Cigars were served to men visitors.

Believed Escaped Murderer Is Held at Sweetwater, Tex.

Marlin, Tex., March 17.—Frank Stallworth, deputy sheriff here, left today for Sweetwater, Tex., to investigate a man who was arrested there and believed to be Ben Myatt, who in 1910 killed his wife near Bremond. Myatt was charged with an unusually brutal murder and was brought to Marlin, tried and sentenced to die. He was then taken to Corsicana to stand trial on other offenses after being sentenced, in order to allow officers to get their fees in the Corsicana cases. He escaped from jail there and had not been heard of since, until the word was received from Sweetwater. For a time there was a reward of $1,500 offered for his capture, but it is believed that the reward now is $700.

Rev. H. H. Street, pastor of the President Heights Baptist church, is in charge of the arrangements for the meeting tonight.

Father Thomas Roach Tells of St. Patrick at Sacred Heart Hall

An interesting sketch of St. Patrick's life was given by Rev. Father Thomas Roach, C. S. B., of St. Basil's college at a program last night in the auditorium of the Academy of the Sacred Heart. Father Roach told of the saint's early life, his evangelization of Ireland and drew many lessons from the events which immortalized his name. The program was under the auspices of the McLenan county Liberator. There was a good crowd in attendance. A piano number was given by Miss Lena Kemendo, Frank Kelly and Mrs. Martin Conroy, a violin solo by Harry Bahl and a reading by Miss Imogene Gammel. Shamrocks and green carnations blossomed on many buttonholes yesterday, all in honor of Ireland's patron saint. Many of the store windows were decorated in green also. A St. Patrick's Day ball was given last night at Central hall by the Women's Union Label league, which proved quite a success.
